STRATEGIES & METHODOLOGIES

Development Strategy

Extensive Re-usability and Compatibility

Whenever new functionality is being developed, explicit care is taken to determine whether:

- Implementation of a similar function already exists
- There are possible other candidates for the function
- Standards of introducing a new function are being observed Whenever an existing function is to be modified
- Standards of extending a function are being observed

Quality over Quantity

Rather than releasing new products into the market every other month, ProgenyTech prefers to produce a handful of high-quality products.

Documentation precedes implementation

Documentation at ProgenyTech starts with the first knowledge of the requirement or problem of a prospective client. Before we even write the first line of code, we produce the following documents:

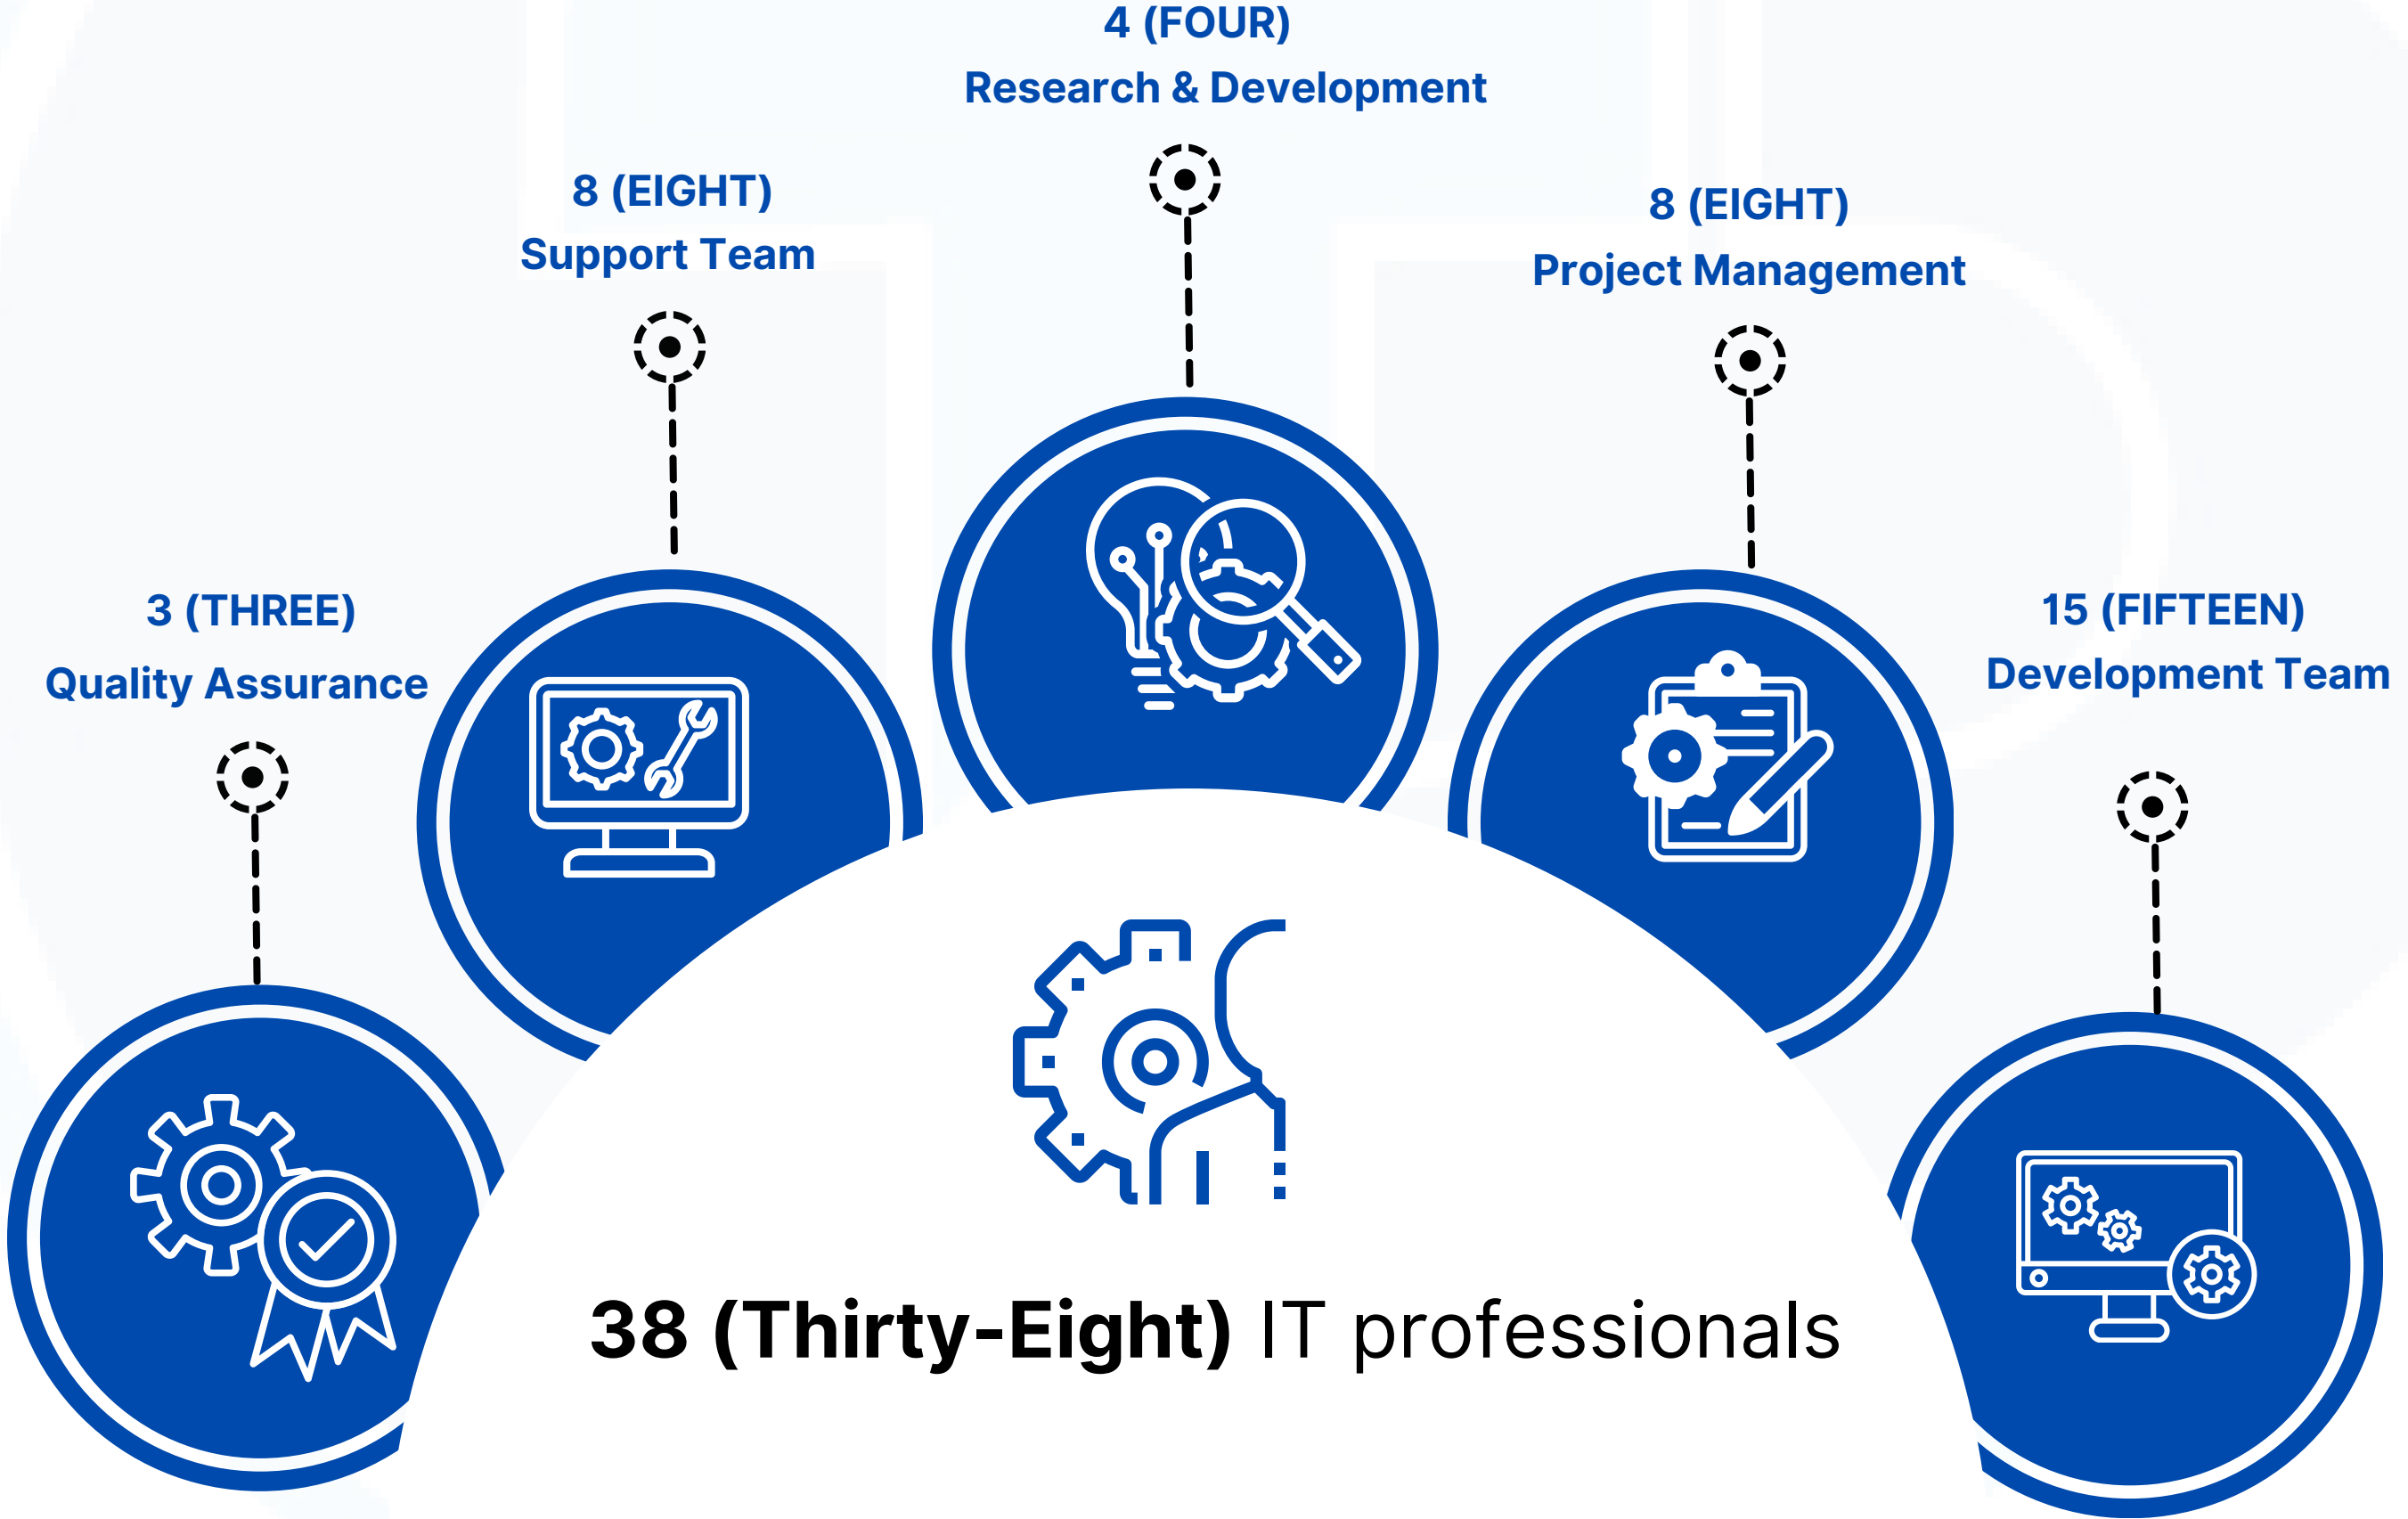

- Requirements Specification
- Use Case Specification
- Functional Specification

Management Strategy

- Accountability through Transparency
- The management strategy of ProgenyTech is to promote ownership of projects among the customers by involving them in the development process so that the customer requirements are satisfied effectively and efficiently
